Re: UPDATE - Maintaining Normal Operations
COVID-19

As defined by The Department of Homeland Security (DHS), Griffith Rubber Mills is considered an “Essential Critical Infrastructure Workforce” due to our support for many of the “Critical Infrastructure” sectors, including the Defense Industrial Base. Therefore, as our state and local officials work to protect our communities with various mandates, we will be maintaining normal operations.

During this challenging time, be assured that we are staffed at all of our molding and extruding plants located throughout the U.S. We are practicing and enforcing best practices for social distancing and health screenings. We have one unionized plant that contractually will need to allow for emergency workers if required. We have been in contact with key material suppliers to confirm that they fit into the same category as Griffith Rubber Mills.

As you know, safety recommendations can and will likely change per the CDC. We will diligently work to stay up-to-date with the latest requirements by the state and federal government.

If you have specific questions not addressed here or on our website, reach out to us by either contacting our corporate office, your local sales representative, or customer service.

We’re working daily to adapt to new circumstances while planning for the future. Our customers have always been the heart of our company. We are committed to keeping our employees, their families, and customers safe during this uncertain time.

We’re all in this together, learning together, and adapting together.
